With mall under construction, where will Santa be?

Turns out, all over town

By Ava Thoman

As the Findlay Mall is undergoing demolition to make way for a new Target store, many families are wondering where they can take their little ones to meet Santa Claus.

Before closing, the mall held an annual meet-and-greet with Kris Kringle; today, families are looking to other local businesses and organizations to get a picture with him this holiday season.

The Findlay Airport, located on 1025 Lima Ave., is hosting Santa on Dec. 20 from 9 a.m. to noon.

"Santa is going to come and sit here and we'll have hot chocolate to give out to people," said Kyle Penzinski, the operations coordinator at the airport. "You can take photos with him inside a hangar, next to a plane; it's very aviation-themed."

Penzinski says the airport wants to help spread Christmas cheer during the season.

"It'll be fun, take a photo with Santa, update your Christmas card, celebrate with a little Christmas cheer before the holidays," Pensinski said.

Another stop where you can find the jolly man is at the Kiwanis Club of Findlay Santa's House, said. “You know, he’s a busy guy. Especially that weekend, it’s his last weekend off!”

Santa and Mrs. Claus get ready to meet kids at Practically Perfect Children's Resale Boutique in Upper Sandusky during a previous Christmas season.

If families cannot make it to these events, many more are happening around the Findlay area.

For example, Bridges for Freedom is hosting its Magic on Melrose light display every Friday and Saturday at 7 p.m., starting Nov. 29 up to Christmas. Kids can meet Santa and the Grinch at 701 E. Melrose Ave.

Just a 30-minute drive to Upper Sandusky, families can stop in Practically Perfect Children’s Resale Boutique on Dec. 20 from 10 a.m. to noon to meet Santa and Mrs. Claus.

“It’s just our annual little meet and greet,” said Stephanie Dairy, owner of the resale shop. “I’ll have a little room set up in the back and then kids, if they want, can bring in their Christmas list, they can give those to Santa. Usually, Mrs. Claus will give them a piece of candy and they can get a little picture.”

For more information on activities and events this holiday season, go to visitfindlay.com.

where kids can meet Santa and go on wagon rides. Families can come to Santa’s House at St. Andrew’s United Methodist Church, located at 156 W. Crawford St., every Friday from Black Friday to Christmas from 6-8 p.m.

New to the Findlay area this year, Family Resource Center is hosting its Twinkle Nights event at the Hancock County Fairgrounds, located at 1017 E. Sandusky St.

Twinkle Nights will be hosted every weekend between Nov. 21 and Dec. 21 from 6-9 p.m. Families are asked to drive through the light show set up at the fairgrounds, which is the first drive-thru holiday light show in Findlay.

“We’ve got dozens of displays and thousands of lights and we’ll have an on-site radio station there for Christmas music in the cars. Traveling Tom’s Coffee Truck is going to be there; they’re designing some signature hot drinks for us,” said Dave Crosser, the community relations lead for the center.

Santa will make an appearance at Twinkle Nights on Dec. 19, 20 and 21.

“We’ll have an area where you’ll pull off and there will be a little walk-through tunnel and Santa will be back by that, carolers will be back there, all kinds of different stuff back in that direction,” Crosser said.

As Santa is coming to visit right before the big day, Crosser says it may be a quick meet-and-greet.

“They can tell him what’s on their list this year. I imagine it will be a fairly quick experience,” Crosser

Special and affordable homemade gifts

The holiday season is a joyous time of year, but it also can be expensive. According to the National Retail Federation, American consumers spend an average of $998 on gifts and additional holiday items each Christmas. In 2024, the anticipated spend for holiday travel, entertainment and gifts was expected to top $1,600 per shopper.

While some people have no qualms about spending so much come the holiday season, others may be tightening their budgetary belts this year and could be interested in some cost-effective gift options. Homemade gifts are very thoughtful, and they tend to be more budget-friendly than some commercially sourced items. Check out these inexpensive homemade gifts.

• Bath bombs

Bath bombs are fizzing, scented balls that dissolve in bathwater. Popular retailers sell bath bombs, but such products can be expensive. However, bath bombs are easily made at home with some basic ingredients like baking soda and citric acid. Simply search online for popular bath bomb recipes and then wrap the finished product in cellophane treat bags with ribbon.

There are various ways to create photo ornaments, which provide an excellent reason to make prints of some of your favorite images. Insert a print inside of a clear ball ornament, purchase a small photo frame and add a hook for hanging, or use a photo transfer product to transfer photo ink to another object, like a cardboard or wood cutout. Recipients will love hanging these thoughtful photo ornaments on the tree or around the house.

• Sugar scrubs

Just like bath bombs, it's relatively easy to recreate a spa experience by gifting homemade sugar scrubs. These scrubs are made from mixing sugar with coconut oil and a few drops of essential oil for a scented boost. If desired, add vitamin E oil or jojoba oil to soothe the skin even more.

• Potted plant

Utilize an interesting container in lieu of a traditional flower pot to put a creative and personalized spin on this gift. A coffee mug with a witty saying can house a plant or even a small ramekin picked up at the dollar store. Choose a plant that matches the care style of the recipient. Someone whose green thumb isn't perfect may appreciate a cactus or another succulent, which tend to be low-maintenance.

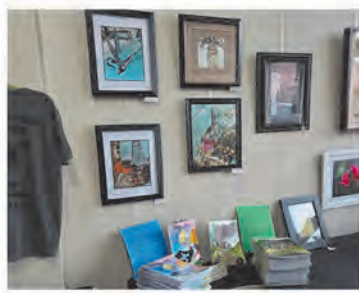

• Personalized stickers

Many people now have printing and cutting craft machines that enable them to expand their crafting options at home, or even start home businesses. Kids may appreciate a stack of homemade, personalized stickers they can use to adorn water tumblers, phone cases or notebooks.

Homemade gifts are thoughtful and often inexpensive options for creative types shopping on a budget.
